1. Good to know before applying for a place at CEU Valencia

I am an international candidate, but I have studied in a Spanish school: how do I proceed?

The education system you have followed, and not your nationality, will determine whether you need to apply via the international process or not. Here you have some examples:

- You have studied in France, but in a Spanish school: you need to apply following the Spanish process. And you can do so by clicking here.
- You have studied in Switzerland in a Swiss school: you should apply via the international admission process.
- You are a Spanish national, but you have studied in an Italian school because you live in that country: you should apply via the international admission process.

Do you work with recruitment agencies?

Yes, we do. It is NOT compulsory to contact an agency to go through the admission process, but you are free to contact one in case you want their support.

Is there a deadline to apply?

It is highly important that you apply as soon as possible if you want to be sure there are still places available. There is a very high demand, especially for some degrees, and sometimes candidates find themselves out of the process because they have waited too long.

Keep in mind that, if you wish to apply for our bilingual degree in Médecine Vétérinaire (French/Spanish), the deadline to apply is January 24, 2022. It will be vital to meet the deadlines and special conditions that apply to this group.

I want to study Medicina (in Spanish) or Medicine (bilingual group English/Spanish); do I have to take an exam?

The admission process for international candidates interested in studying our degrees in Medicina (Spanish) and Medicine (English/Spanish) will open on November 22, 2021. From that moment on, the information and steps-to-follow will be published on our website.

I want to study Veterinary Medicine: can I apply for all of the strands on offer?

We will only accept one application per candidate interested in Veterinary Medicine. It is not possible to apply simultaneously for the different linguistic groups (Spanish, English/Spanish, French/Spanish). If your application is not successful, you can then apply for a place in another linguistic group under the condition that you meet the admission requirements, and there are places available.
